

Executive Director
Position Description

Organizational Overview

Tradeswomen, Inc. is an Oakland-based non-profit organization dedicated to gender equity in the skilled trades. Founded in 1979 as a grassroots organization concentrated on supporting women in blue-collar skilled crafts, today we have three areas of focus: outreach and recruitment, support and retention, and leadership development. We also work to support tradeswomen and apprenticeship through policy coalitions at the local, state, and federal level. Tradeswomen, Inc. provides direct services for women entering and moving through careers in the trades as well as technical assistance to contractors, unions, and apprenticeship programs. We are at the forefront of advocacy on these issues including joining in national advocacy to promote strong harassment and discrimination prevention policies (which helped result in the new Office of Apprenticeship Equal Employment Opportunity regulations and increased federal funding to implement these regulations and related gender equity in apprenticeship policies). We partner with the Building and Construction Trades Council of California (SBCTC) and California legislators to improve opportunities for women in construction. Through our work, we support economic equity and security for women.

Our focus is:

- Outreach and Recruitment – Inform those who identify as women and girls about building trades apprenticeship and other career opportunities, targeting women in low-income communities.
- Support and Retention – Provide support services needed to enable women to stay in the trades – especially mentoring, childcare, support networks, and fight to eliminating sexual harassment and discrimination.
- Leadership Development – Provide women with the skills to advance on the job and in their unions; create tradeswomen forums to enact policy reforms that will enhance recruitment and retention.
